LONDON, March 24.—(Unit Press).—The Miners' Federation Great Britain has voted unanimously to reject the government's offer for a wage increase of one shilling six pence a day. The miners have voted in favour of their demand for three shillings a day.

GOLBY WILL ASK TURKS BE OUSTED

WASHINGTON, March 24.—The original position of the American government that the Turks should be expelled from Europe is restated in a note to the allied supreme council, which has been prepared at the State Department. The note will be transmitted to the council and will be the first diplomatic paper to be signed by him.

The United States is said to take the view that the contention that the expulsion of the Turks might be represented by the Mohammedans is not supported by the facts, since the war in the Near East was won largely by the aid of Mohammedans.

The United States, it is understood, desires that Armenia be set up as an independent state and that it embrace as much territory as the Armenian government can control. It also takes the position that any arrangement that would guarantee to all nations equal opportunities for commerce and that no belligerent should be given paramount claims in any part of the Near East.

The position of the United States, it is said, also is that in any arrangement for the government of Constantinople and the Turkish straits, the participation of Russia should be made, as the American government is convinced that no plan of settlement can be successful in the long run which does not take into account the interests of Russia in the matter.

Officials to Discuss Cook Health Plans

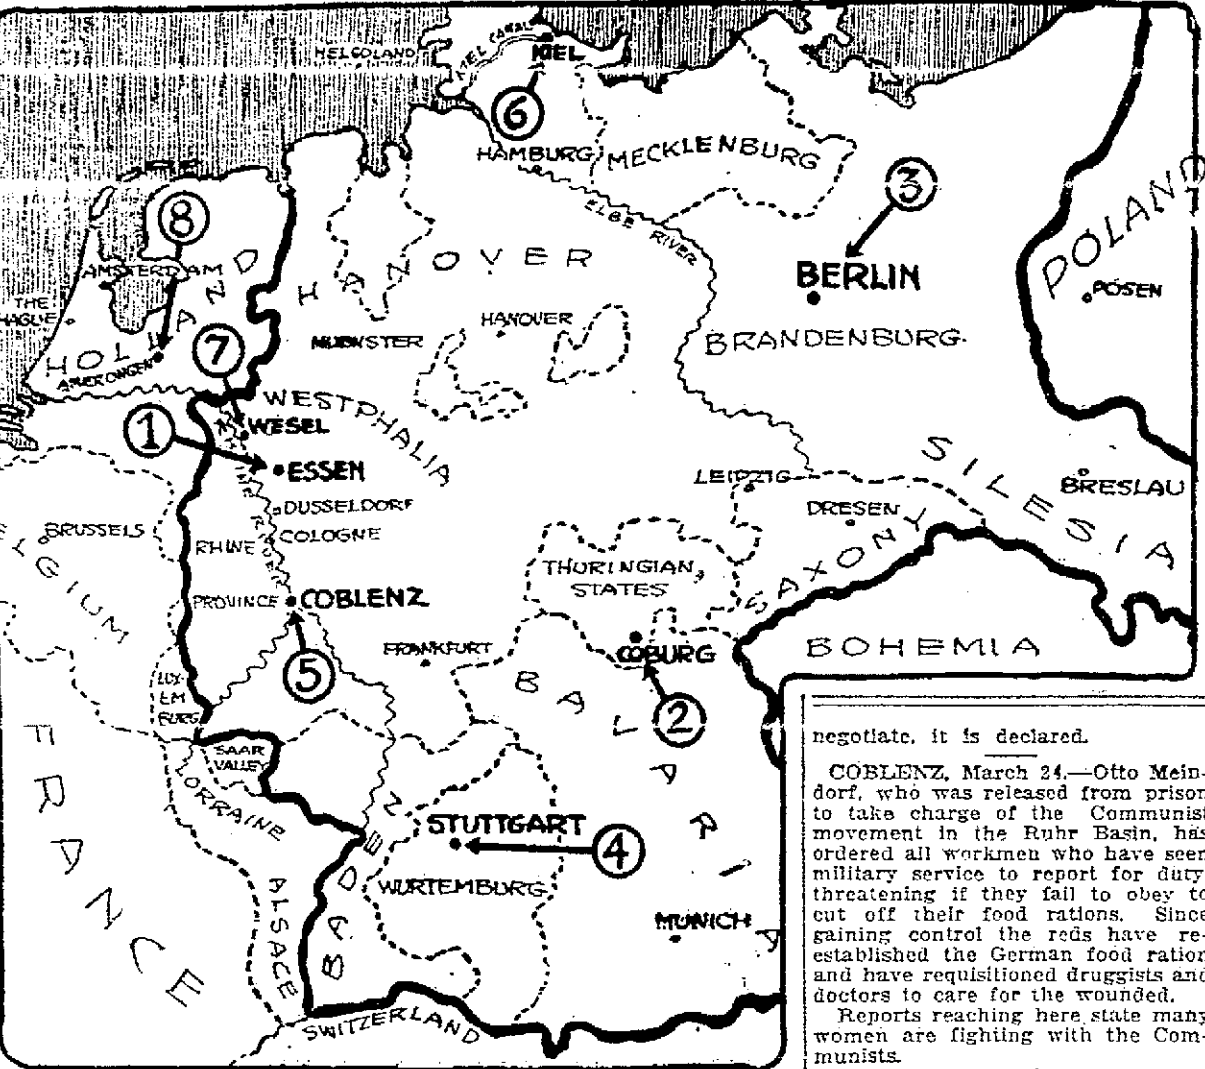

Prospective changes in the operation of the health department in accordance with recommendations resulting from the recent survey of the department by the State Board of Health and by N. W. Cook, municipal efficiency expert, will be considered this week in conferences between F. E. Morse, commissioner of public health and safety, and Dr. Kirby Smith, health officer.

Cook's report, founded on a survey he made under orders from the city council following the submission of the report of the exhaustive investigation of the State board, is now before Morse, who declared today that no action will be taken on the recommendations contained in the report until after the approaching conference between himself and Dr. Smith.

SCHOONER LEAKING.
SAN FRANCISCO, March 24.—The schooner Armstrong, bound from Eureka, Cal., to Sydney, has put into the port of Apia, Samoa, in a leaking condition which was so serious that according to a cablegram received here today by the Marine Department of the Chamber of Commerce.

Centers of chief activities by the radical elements in Germany are indicated by the arrows on the accompanying map:

1. Essen: Krupp gun factories in possession of reds; between 10,000 and 15,000 square miles of industrial district in Rhine provinces under their control; Spartacan army of 50,000 opposes remnants of regular troops; political and common prisoners liberated from jails.
2. Coburg: One thousand Communists killed in losing battle with government forces.
3. Berlin: General von Luetwitz, military leader of von Kapp rebellion, and Admiral von Trotha, chief of admiralty, arrested; Spartacists post proclamations protesting against military control of capital and exhorting workers to continue general strike; Bolshevik money being printed to flood the district; radicals force changes in cabinet.
4. Stuttgart: Provisional capital of the Ebert regime immediately following the reactionary coup.
5. Coblenz: Headquarters of the Allied army of occupation, where Marshal Foch is following developments of the situation.
6. Kiel: Naval center and scene of violent clashes recently.
7. Wesel: Ebert's troops are being driven back on this fortress by the reds.
8. Amersfoort: Where former Kaiser is closely guarded by Holland.

RHUR REDS REBUTED ON FACT WITH HOLLAND
LONDON, March 24.—The Moscow wireless station today sent out a despatch dated Berlin which declares the revolutionists in the Ruhr district attempted to enter into negotiations with the Dutch government, under which the radicals consented to call off the general strike deliberately, was substantially as follows: The government agrees to withdraw all regular troops from Berlin. Communists in control of the Ruhr industrial district, all of whom have been besieged in Wesel since Monday night, were still holding the town safely late last night.

QUICK TRIAL REQUEST OF PETERSEN

"I expect to be able to bring before this board evidence to show that Commissioner Morse entered into a conspiracy to deprive me of my position. I request a speedy trial and an opportunity to subpoena witnesses in my behalf."

This was the statement last night to the Civil Service Board of Captain Walter J. Petersen, deposed head of the plain clothes division of the police department, when the board took up official consideration of his appeal from the order of Commissioner of Public Health and Safety F. E. Morse dismissing him for alleged misconduct, neglect of duty and incompetency.

Captain Petersen appeared before the board with Attorney Burton J. Wyman as his counsel and the board fixed the hearing for the evening of April 9.

The office of Commissioner Morse was not represented, and the removed attempt to prevent the approaching hearing by some court action was not in evidence. The board was served with a copy of a resolution adopted by the council relieving City Attorney Hagan to represent Morse.

Following Commissioner Morse's statement yesterday intimating that a verdict in favor of Captain Petersen will not close the incident, it is expected by many in touch with City Hall politics that the real issue in the Petersen situation does not rest in the Civil Service Board hearing, but rather in the resolution adopted by the city council ordering Captain Petersen's dismissal from the service for acts alleged to have been committed while he was acting chief of police in 1916.

It is believed by many that the contention will be made without regard for the Civil Service Board case, that the council resolution of dismissal is final action under section 89 of the city charter and not subject to appeal.

Attorney Wyman, counsel, Attorney Wyman, declares that the council resolution is void because of the fact that at the time it was passed Captain Petersen had already been dismissed by Commissioner Morse, and that the council was then without authority to act.

reorganization of every phase of the government.

The radicals threatened immediately resumption of the general strike if any of their demands are not complied with.

REUTHERS AND TROTHA ARE JAILLED BY EBERT
General Baron Von Luetwitz, minister of defense in the Von Kapp insurrectionary movement, has been arrested, government officials said. Admiral von Trotha, chief of the admiralty, also has been apprehended.

Government forces continued the search for Dr. Von Kapp.

The general opinion prevails that the government gradually is getting the situation under control, with the exception of West Germany, where the revolutionary Communism is spreading rapidly.

Advises indicated that where Communism has gained its strongest supporters and government troops had withdrawn, the situation was quiet. Whether these districts will come over to President Ebert was not clear.

Advices to the British mission here indicated the situation in West Germany is quieting somewhat.

RADICALS RELEASE RUSSIAN PRISONERS
It was learned that radicals have released many Russian prisoners, still held in various parts of Germany, and Russians have aided in the Communist movement. They were said to have taken part in the fighting at Mersburg, urging the Communists to unite against France and offering their military aid.

The Russians also advocated a strong propaganda movement to win the French people over to Communism.

The government press bureau announced representatives of the Majority and Independent Socialists, the general employees' labor union and other labor organizations conferred with the cabinet yesterday afternoon. They demanded a workers' government be formed.

The cabinet decided to refer the demand to the inter-factional conference, containing representatives of all parties.

The Majority Socialists, according to the announcement, favored asking the Centrists and Democrats to participate in the new government. The radicals' demand was considered especially significant because leaders said they made it only after ascertaining that the governments set up by workers in West Germany

BERKELEY MAN CHARGED WITH BORROWING CAR

BERKELEY, March 24.—When Marion Peck, who is associated with his brother, Vernon Peck, in business on Shattuck avenue, borrowed an automobile last night he did not know it was going to take him to jail.

He steered it to Oakland because, he says, he knew the street cars would have stopped by the time he would return. The machine belonged to Joe Pummerville, another Shattuck avenue merchant.

Pummerville discovered at a late hour that his car was gone. He told the police and the police caught Peck. Peck said he was in jail explaining that he knew Pummerville very well and that he saw no harm in taking the car. Pummerville says the car has been taken before and that it appeals to friendship or something else will soften his heart.

The Berkeley police are holding Peck on a specific charge which concerns "borrowing an automobile for jorjoring purposes."

PIERCE ARROW "The First Fifty"

Few trucks have been subjected to the same severe tests as the Pierce-Arrow truck No. 35 has survived. Purchased in August, 1911, by the Mountain Mill Paper Company of Lee, Mass., it traveled for six years in that mountainous region, carrying full loads for 20 hours a day many months of the year. It hauled logs and paper pulp as well as coal to the mill, and delivered finished products to railroad sidings. In winter months the unit was used to clear the roads of deep snows, a plow attachment being used.

On July 4, 1915, the truck was burned in a garage fire. A new body and cab were fitted, the electrical system rewired, new tires attached and the truck resumed its work.

In September, 1917, the paper company traded in the veteran, purchasing a new Pierce-Arrow. A two-ton Pierce-Arrow agent has used the truck as a demonstrator and also as an emergency truck for owners who desired additional trucking facilities occasionally. It has been idle scarcely a day.

Its total mileage is more than 200,000, and the original warranty is intact.

First Fifty booklet can be had on application.

Reds Are Battling To Reach Holland

By FRANK MASON.
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

BERLIN, March 23, 10 p. m. — Trench warfare has developed between government troops and the reds in the region of Munster, Westphalia. The reds are trying to cut their way through the government forces to the Holland frontier.

The reds began with an offensive against the government forces under General von Water. The reds were driven behind the Aa river and General von Water was obliged to abandon his headquarters.

The government troops have thrown up entrenchments all along their front.

The general strike has been called off by five of the leading locals of the workers' union.

It began to look today as if the political leaders had lost their grip on the workers entirely. The laborites persisted in their demands for the withdrawal of all troops from the factory districts to the center of the city, but the government refused. The cabinet was vacillating on the Ruhr decision.

All But Two of 100 Convicts Are Caught
HUNTSVILLE, Texas, March 24.—All but two of the more than 100 convicts who overpowered guards at the State prison farm near here late yesterday, were in custody again today, according to telephone information from the farm. There was no confirmation of early reports that two convicts had been killed and several wounded in the outbreak.

"SAFETY FIRST" PLANS COMPLETE

The program for the "Safety First" fire and police campaign to be held here during "Safety Weeks," April 1 to April 15, has been completed following conferences between Commissioner Morse and members of a committee of delegates from various civic organizations.

During the period, which will be devoted to the demonstration of methods of fire prevention and accident prevention under Chief of Police J. F. Lynch and Fire Chief Elliott Whitehead, meetings will be held by the various fraternal organizations and a public meeting will take place April 10 in the T. and D. Theater.

Several street "stunts" are also planned, including a "walk right" demonstration by the Boy Scouts on March 31, and a "clean-up" campaign on April 3, under the Alameda County Automobile Trades Association. On April 10 Boy Scouts will

IT SURELY WAS TOUGH OLD NIGHT FOR JACK DIXON

It was a tough night for Jack Dixon.

It began with a quarrel with his wife at the family home at 1230 Willow street.

The plot thickened when his own father hit him on the head with a hammer at the Sixteenth street depot at 11 o'clock last night.

The next development was the arrival of the police ambulance and treatment at the Emergency Hospital for lacerations of the scalp.

And with the departure of the police patrol from the hospital a little later, with Dixon inside bound for the city prison on a charge of being drunk, the curtain went down on the fourth act of what Dixon termed the most interesting night of his career.

The fire department will stage a competitive drill in the City Hall Plaza on April 15.

Oakland's $1000 share in America's gift of the $250,000 MacMonnies "Battle of the Marne" statue to the French republic will be raised by popular subscription so that every citizen may boast that he or she has a share in this tribute to France, said Miss Frances Redman, chairman of the local committee of society girls which is raising the fund this week.

Through the courtesy of Manager Perry, our four-minute speaker, Attorney Albert C. Agnew will address the T. and D. audiences every night this week while girls pass the hat, said Miss Redman.

On Thursday night workers and speakers will be at the American on Friday at the Kinema and on Saturday night at Ye Liberty.

"See Oakland First."

That would be the more appropriate title to the Tribune-T. and D. News Weekly at the T. and D. Theater this week.

Holding the center of interest among the scenes "shot" by the Tribune-T. and D. cameraman are those which show Oakland from the east side of Lake Merritt and the other portions of the city from the dome of the city hall. Oakland is shown in one broad sweep from the Auditorium to the Campanile at Berkeley. The pictures were taken from 300 feet in the air and give the best views ever taken of the city.

Other interesting scenes on this week's Tribune-T. and D. News Weekly embrace the annual cross-city race among the schools of Alameda; the congregation of the First Christian church leaving Sunday services; the Garfield school inter-class track meet and traffic demonstrations on how to park an automobile.

TWELFTH AVENUE CUT IS FAVORED

Opening of Twelfth avenue to the waterfront and the construction of a big wharf at the foot of the avenue, was favored by the Merchants' Exchange at the regular weekly meeting last night when a resolution was passed asking that the city council push this matter to completion.

With Twelfth avenue open and with a wharf constructed there capable of handling cargoes from the big boats, Oakland would take many ships' cargoes from San Francisco, W. H. Graham, representing the East Oakland business men declares.

President J. J. Mulhally of the Exchange was authorized to appoint a committee to attend the hearing April 6 in San Francisco on the Pacific Gas and Electric Company's application for rate increases.

Pay for Photoplays Is Increasing Tribune Course Tells of Field

What is the truth about the photoplay profession? Has the cinema entered upon a period of high art that will endure for centuries and displace other forms of literature and the drama?

These questions and many more will be answered by John Emerson and Anita Loos, famous photoplay writers, in their course on the scenario art now running in the Sunday TRIBUNE.

Of one thing there is no doubt. The pictures are reaching out for the great figures of literature. Five years ago it would have been highly ludicrous to suggest scenario writing to Rex Beach, Mary Roberts Rinehart, Basil King, Irwin S. Cobb, Rupert Hughes, Booth Tarkington, Peter B. Kyne, Blanche Barlow and Maurice Maeterlinck. Now they are doing it seriously because the picture corporations have run out of ideas and at last are forced to compete for creative brains.

According to John Emerson and Anita Loos the field for photoplays is just opening. Originality was never paid more liberally. Two to three thousand dollars is not uncommon for ordinary successful photoplays.

The Oakland TRIBUNE's photoplay writing course brings home to its readers the possibilities in this field. The next chapter will be on "The Theme." This feature of all plays is exceptionally vital and often overlooked. Just what the theme is and how to develop it will be explained.

Scenario synopses submitted by TRIBUNE readers will be criticized each Sunday. The criticism is offered free of charge by John Emerson and Anita Loos. Manuscripts are being received daily. If you have an idea, write it out in story form, which is the synopsis. Your name will not be used unless you desire.

Sororities Fight To Retain Homes

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, March 24.—The sorority women at Stanford University took action today in opposition to the plan of the university to abolish the present housing system of the Greek Letter societies, by submitting a report to the board of trustees and President Ray Lyman Wilbur setting forth what they believe to be the advantage of the present small group system, enjoyed by the sororities, as opposed to the university's announced policy to house all women in dormitories.

The report to the board of trustees calls attention to the "defects" of Robin Hall, which "as it now stands is an admitted failure."

MY HEART and MY HUSBAND
by ADELE GARRISON

"A ghost of the past!" The words haunted my waking moments, and said themselves over and over in my dreams during the days following my outing with my father, the day which had ended so unpleasantly.

I think they were all the more forcibly impressed upon my brain because of the fact that from the moment my father had uttered them he had never again referred to the woman whose insolent recognition of him had so upset him upon the evening of our "celebration" dinner together. Of course I had never even remotely approached the subject with him since, tried to avoid even the appearance of watching over him. But I couldn't help seeing that he was distant, palpably worried.

It was the second day after our experience that my mother-in-law, who always takes a childish pleasure in being first to receive the mail and distribute it—indeed, she watches for the postman when she's able to leave her room for fully an hour before it is time for him to arrive—called me aside with a much injured expression.

"What's gone into your father, Margaret?" she demanded crossly.

"Filled as I was with the memory of the upsetting incident at the cafe I felt a queer, of something very like terror at her question."

"Why! what do you mean?" I stammered.

MADGE'S INSPIRATIONS

"Well, what's the matter with you?" she retorted, fixing me with an inquisitive eye. "You're all pale and wobbly. I think the whole family's got the high stricks. Your father's going around starting at every ring of the doorbell or the telephone as if it were a summons to the scaffold. He runs to answer the telephone as if he were 19 and expected his best girl to talk to him, and he watches for the postman like a hawk, is out at the gate to meet him, and no one gets even a glance at the mail until he has looked it all over."

"And he told Katie today that as she had so much to do and he was busy, he would answer the doorbell hereafter when he was in the house. Of course, Katie's delighted, and I can just imagine the time I'll have getting her broken in to answering it again when he gets tired of this freak. That ape always takes an ell when you give her an inch."

I knew that Mother Graham didn't mean her apparent harsh stricture against Katie, but that her irritation against my father had to vent itself somewhere. I tried to summon what shreds of poise were left me in order to give my mother-in-law a plausible explanation of my father's actions.

"Why, I think the explanation is very simple!" I said at last slowly. "Father is very much better than he was, and as you know, he never has entirely severed his connections with the secret service, although for a long time he has done very little work. But don't you think it entirely probable that he has some big thing on hand?"

A STRANGE QUESTION

I had struck the right chord with my mother-in-law! I mentally blessed as an inspiration the thought of her childish, romantic enthusiasm for anything that savored of mystery which had flashed into my mind and sponsored the theory I had just voiced.

"Why, of course!" she exclaimed delightedly. "How stupid of me not to have thought of it before. I'll be mighty careful after this to keep out of his way myself, and to see that that ape of a girl doesn't bother him by snooping around. Her curiosity will be the death of her some day."

She pondered for a long moment, then looked up at me wistfully.

"It wouldn't do, would it, Margaret, for me to hint to him that I would like to help him if I could in anything he's doing?"

"I'm afraid not," I hesitated, "but I can promise you this, if he says anything to me concerning it I will tell him of your willingness and ability to help. But unless he says something himself I wouldn't dare question him. The best way we can help him is to keep out of his way as you suggest."

"Of course," she acquiesced promptly, and so well did she fulfill her part of the bargain that my father was left absolutely without espionage on the part of any one.

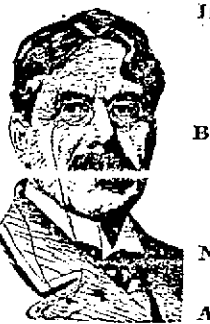

What summons or message he received, whether by phone or letter, I don't know. But that he had been given some unpleasant shock I knew from his manner, his hurt, humiliated face, when a week later he hesitatingly put a startling query to me.

"Daughter, have you cashed that check I gave you?"

Uncle Wiggily STORIES
by J. M. G. GARRISON

"Well, where are you going now, Uncle Wiggily?" asked Nurse Jane Puzzy Wuzzy, the muskrat lady housekeeper, as she saw the bunny rabbit gentleman getting ready to hop out of his hollow stump bungalow one morning.

"Oh, I am just going to look for an adventure, as I do almost every day he answered. Would you like me to do anything for you while I am out?"

"Just bring me a loaf of bread," answered the muskrat lady. "I am going to help Mrs. Wibblywobble, the duck mother of Lulu, Alice and Jimmie, make them some mittens, and I will not have time to bake. So please bring some bread from the baker's."

"I'll bring two loaves, so we'll be sure to have enough in case company should come," spoke Uncle Wiggily. Then away he hopped, over the snow-covered fields and down the snow-covered woods to have an adventure, and at the same time, get the bread.

But though he walked on and on, and looked here, there and everywhere, not an adventure could he find.

"I guess they must be all frozen," said Uncle Wiggily. "Never mind, I'll go to the five and six-cent store and get the bread. Something may happen after that."

And something did. I'll tell you about it. It did not take Uncle Wiggily long to get the bread. Then, with a loaf in his paw, he set off once more, hoping he would have an adventure before he reached his hollow stump bungalow home.

As he was passing a field where in summer a farmer grew great big ears of golden corn and in the fall the corn was a small sort of barn where the ears of corn slept) out from the crib scurried a mouse named Mrs. Longtail, the mouse mother of Jollie and Jillie, the mouse children.

"Why, Mrs. Longtail, how do you do?" exclaimed Uncle Wiggily, taking one loaf of bread out from under his paw, and putting it on a snow bank—hoping the mouse would see it and come to him. "I mean—so he could make a low and polite bow with his tail silk hat. 'I did not expect to see you here, Mrs. Longtail,' went on Uncle Wiggily.

"Well, I came here to get some corn," spoke the mouse lady. "The farmer who put his corn stalks in the crib, after he took out the ears for shucking, told me I might pick up any spare loose kernels he might find. So I come here every day, rustle around among the dried corn stalks, pick up the dry kernels that cattle out and take them home. Jollie and Jillie help me grind the corn into meal, and then I make hasty pudding and little cakes of it."

"That is very nice," said Uncle Wiggily. "But it seems to me that if you took a bundle of the corn stalks home with you, then you could pick out the kernels as you pleased, and you would not have to run back and forth to the corn crib each time."

"That would be a good way," said Mrs. Longtail, "but I am not big enough nor strong enough to carry a bundle of corn stalks."

"Then I'll do it for you," said Uncle Wiggily. "Wait here until I take these loaves of bread home to Nurse Jane, and then I'll come back and carry to your home a big bundle of corn stalks."

"Thank you most kindly," said the mouse lady, as she scurried off, with the few kernels she could find as fast as she could to do a kindness for Mrs. Longtail, the mouse lady.

Now just about this time the bad old Pipsisewah happened to be passing through the field. The Pipsisewah saw Uncle Wiggily go in the farmer's corn crib, and the Pipsisewah said to himself:

"I bet I shall not take any more of that bread until he comes out, and when he does I'll grab him!" So the Pipsisewah went inside the corn crib, sat down outside to wait for the bunny. Uncle Wiggily peeked through a crack in the crib and saw the bad animal waiting.

"Ha! This is where I play a trick on him! I'll whisper the bunny to himself. 'I'll go inside a bundle of corn stalks, hold them all around me so I can't be seen, and walk out with one on my back. The Pipsisewah won't see me and then he can't get my source.'"

No sooner said than done. Hidden inside a bundle of the dried corn stalks, Uncle Wiggily walked out of the crib. The Pipsisewah saw the bundle coming but he only scratched himself, sort of lazy like, and paid no attention to it. And Uncle Wiggily, safely inside the corn stalks, laughed to himself at how he fooled the Pipsisewah.

Then the bunny took the bundle of corn stalks in which were some stray kernels of corn to Mrs. Longtail, and the Pipsisewah sat waiting by the crib until dark.

Then he looked inside and saw that Uncle Wiggily was gone.

"Fooled again!" howled the Pipsisewah. "He must have been in that bundle of corn stalks and I never knew a thing about it! Oh, fooled again!"

Compton's report showed that Cronan refused to tell anything about himself so the district attorney will try to solve the mysterious past. Eastbay Women To Fete June Excursionists

By EDNA B. KINARD

June will not only bring the National Democratic convention to California, but will welcome to the coast hundreds of brilliant women to whom leadership is attributed in recognition of their own achievements or the achievements of their fathers or husbands. Some of them will come as official delegates with seats in the convention. Others will follow the menfolk of their families to participate in the great gathering. Whatever the mission, women of California have declared that the tradition of western hospitality must be upheld; that the party and social lines must be ignored, that the strangers in our midst must be shown the riches of the country which is beside the Golden Gate.

To the east shore cities has been pledged one entire day out of the little era of time which covers the exciting period of the convention. The feminine visitors on this date will be the especial care of the local women. But while the large emphasis will be placed on hospitality on this occasion it does not mean that entertainment will not be provided on other days.

How best excursion may be given to that California welcome which must await the newcomer is not yet determined.

For Monday at Hotel Oakland club executives and local leaders are being summoned to a conference which will discuss what Oakland and Alameda county may do by way of entertainment for the June visitors. While Democratic women will be conspicuous in the meeting which has been called at their instigation, party affiliation has not figured in the naming of those who have been invited to offer suggestions and to participate in their fulfillment.

Alkali in Shampoos Bad For Washing Hair

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali, which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is Mulsified coconut oil shampoo, for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap and beats anything else all to pieces. You can get this at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in about a teaspoonful of it all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy, and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.—Advertisement.

Bad Check, Stolen Jewelry on Prisoner

Cyril E. Shell, 19, was arrested last night by Inspector Richard McSorley as he attempted to pass a $20 check in a local store. The check aroused the suspicion of the floor manager, who detained Shell for the police.

At the police station, numerous articles of jewelry stolen from the Hotel Touraine were found in Shell's pockets. A pawn shop ticket for a watch stolen from J. A. Russell of the same hotel, was found on Shell.

HIGH FINANCING CHARGED TO MAN

Richard Hoppe, former San Quentin convict, who, the police say, without a penny in his pocket, tried to buy the Hotel St. Mark of Oakland for $600,000 and defrauded the Oakland Bank of Italy and Central National Bank of $700, was arrested in San Francisco while trying to buy a diamond ring for Miss Gladys Brockman in a jewelry store yesterday afternoon by the Burns Agency.

Hoppe's bad checks on the coast total $30,000, it is said.

Hoppe, posing as William Steinway, New York piano manufacturer, came to San Francisco two weeks ago with Miss Brockman from San Diego and they have lived at the Grand Hotel there since, the girl stated.

The police say Hoppe gave his biggest bogus check amounting to $25,000 to the Merchants National Bank here on the First National Bank of New York. He had deposited $200 cash on the previous Thursday.

The Bank of Italy and the Central National Bank of this city, defrauded out of $700 previously, had put detectives on the man's trail. He was arrested just as he was planning to get away with his San Francisco swindle.

Hoppe was sent to San Quentin for six years some time ago for defrauding a Los Angeles bank and was released two years ago for good behavior. He says that while in San Diego another woman whom he had met duped him and robbed him of $1000.

During his stay in San Francisco Hoppe kept in constant touch with the local agents for Steinway.

Four hundred men of the Defender's Club at a meeting last night heard Perry Burlingame, representing Federated Community Service tell of plans for the Defender's Club for the coming year. Upon the conclusion of the campaign for $35,000 which is to be held from April 11 to 17 new quarters will be opened for the Defender's Club.

Talks on Kellogg's Krumbles

NUMBER ONE
by Alfred W. McCann
Food Expert, N. Y. Globe

For three years the medical profession through the medical journals, has practically admitted that "resistance to disease is chiefly nutritional" and that health depends upon certain food elements widely distributed in nature but easily removed or destroyed by commercial refining processes and faulty methods of home cooking.

Back of these statements are hundreds of carefully conducted nutritional experiments. But in what way does the truth derived from such experiments benefit the human family unless applied to humanity's daily needs?

Kellogg's Krumbles are the result of a deliberate effort to apply these truths. Kellogg's Krumbles can't be spoiled by home cooking because they are already cooked. Kellogg's Krumbles know that in the little brown wheat berry are found "those certain food elements upon which resistance to disease is developed."

Kellogg's Krumbles consciously and purposely retain those elements.

The best way to tell what Kellogg's Krumbles are is to tell what they are not. Kellogg's Krumbles are not robbed, sifted, bolted, degenerated, refined, impoverished or bleached.

This means that through Kellogg's Krumbles one may begin a busy day with a breakfast food that actually contributes to the vitality of the human tissues, to the integrity of the internal secretions, to the normal constituency of the blood itself. This is the difference between nutritional addition and subtraction, between gift and theft.

Kellogg's Krumbles give iron for the hemoglobin, calcium for the bones, potassium for the tissues, phosphorus for the cells and those other mineral salts and colloids the theft of which from so many refined breakfast foods is followed by disorders and infirmities.

On a diet of Kellogg's Krumbles and whole milk or cream one might live indefinitely. Yet it would be a mistake to assume that the virtues of Kellogg's Krumbles are purely nutritional.

Flavor is quite as important as substance. Without their bio-chemical virtues the flavor of Kellogg's Krumbles would be impossible.

A refined Krumble wouldn't taste like the real Krumble because it couldn't. When the strength and vitality of the grain are bolted out, the flavor goes with it.

The pleasing, satisfying taste of Kellogg's Krumbles not only ministers to the palate, but educates it and gives assurance that the price-cess blessings which flow from the soil and the extractive of honest wheat are really and truly present.

I think that at least a little of the gloom of this war-wrecked world is dissipated by the obvious tendency of human nature to crawl, however slowly, back to commonsense. In some directions the people are beginning to distinguish between surface appearance and genuine substance. The very fact that a few food manufacturers have actually started to cater to the changing order of things is in itself a tonic.

Kellogg's Krumbles are one of the mile posts along the road of reconstruction and the sooner the long neglected scientific back of it are appreciated by the plain people, the sooner will their children become a huskier lot.

All the French and British trench experiences that urge the adoption of whole grain breadstuffs should be utilized in extending the use of such foods as Kellogg's Krumbles. The same reasons are back of both.

Manufacturers Note: Buy a package of Krumbles of your grocer. Eat all you want. If you are not pleased with it you can have your money back. We know you will join the thousands of others who like Krumbles better than any other Breakfast Food, for reasons described above by Mr. McCann.

GIRL POSES AS TRUTH, WALKS ABOUT STREETS

SAN FRANCISCO, March 24.—A modern version of Lady Godiva was enacted at Mission and Tenth streets early today with disastrous results to traffic, ending only with the arrival of an ambulance from the Detention hospital containing a blanket and two internes. Pedestrians in the vicinity of the Porter Hotel were startled to observe a young woman devoid of clothing emerge from the establishment and proceed leisurely up Mission street. After traveling a block and a half the woman then entered the lobby of the Yuba Hotel, where the night clerk summoned the Detention hospital authorities.

At the hospital the young woman gave her name as Helen Uksila. She declined to give any information concerning herself beyond the fact that she was Truth and therefore should be undressed. She is being held for observation.

THEY WORK WHILE YOU SLEEP

A Well-known Man

Dr. Pierce of Buffalo, N. Y., the celebrated physician, known throughout the entire civilized universe because of his many years of successful medical practice, once said:

"At this time of year most people suffer from what we term 'spring fever' because of a stagnant condition of the blood, because of the toxins (poisons) stored up within the body during the long winter. We eat too much meat, with little or no green vegetables."

Bloodless people, thin, anemic people, those with pale cheeks and lips, who have a poor appetite and feel that tired, worn or feverish condition in the springtime of the year, should try the refreshing tonic powers of a good alternative and blood purifier. Such a tonic as druggists have sold for fifty years, is Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It is a standard remedy that can be obtained in tablet or liquid form. Made without alcohol from wild roots and bark. If your druggist does not have the tablets send 10 cents for trial package to Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

"Ask your neighbors, they have tried it!"

BRAYTON, OREGON.—"I was taken very sick with a bad case of liver trouble and indigestion, and had a severe case of catarrh, of long standing. I doctored and doctored, but was no better than when I began. I almost gave up but happened to think of my mother's being cured of a bad case of skin trouble with Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, so I wrote to Dr. Pierce, and at his advice I took the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and the 'Pleasant Peppermint', also used Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, and was cured."

"I have a son and a daughter that were also cured of the most chronic catarrh by taking the 'Discovery'. My family cannot praise this medicine too highly."—Mrs. CAROLINE BOLLES, Box 363.

MAYOR SEEKING STATE BUILDING

Mayor John L. Davis has opened a campaign for the purpose of trying to secure an appropriation from the legislature next year which will provide a State exposition building in this city. He is sending letters to the supervisors in every county of the State asking them to lend support to the movement and pointing out that San Francisco, Los Angeles and Sacramento already have such structures.

Excerpts from the letter, sent to the boards of supervisors:

The City of Oakland is rapidly becoming the industrial, commercial and financial center of California. During the war 25 per cent of the steel vessels constructed for our government were launched in Oakland harbor. The third largest city in our State, Oakland is an important tourist center, and this importance is continually increasing. Statistical proof of this is furnished by the published reports in the daily papers of March 11, showing that almost forty million people crossed San Francisco bay to Oakland during the year 1919.

As a unity to our part of building, at which the splendid Municipal auditorium is a plan, I am very anxious to have constructed in Oakland a State exposition building in which the State will maintain a permanent exhibit from California's productions. Your county has an enviable record in productions, and an exhibit of your prize products will form one of the entire collection. I will make it my business to acquaint the tourists with the exhibition from your county, and to bring them under the jurisdiction of the mayor.

Three Dreadnaughts Arrive in S. F. Bay

SAN FRANCISCO, March 24.—Three of the Pacific's biggest dreadnaughts, the New Mexico, Texas and the Mississippi, and a convoying squadron of destroyers, have arrived here in preparation for the naval reserve day celebration here next Saturday. The cruiser Minneapolis has been ordered to this harbor for the celebration. Vice Admiral Clarence S. Williams is in command of the ships.

Plans for the parade provide for the units to assemble at the civic center from which place they will march down Market street and then return to the starting point where they will be dismissed. General Hunter Liggett, commanding the western department of the army, will be the reviewing officer and in the street and on the point where they will be dismissed. Dry Agent Arrested

TUESDAY, B. Mistake

F. W. Burgess, negro, employed as a federal prohibition enforcement agent, has been arrested twice by error in the last few days. He was first arrested in West Oakland when he sought to place Henry Hastings, colored, under arrest on suspicion he was selling liquor. The police were called and Burgess was taken to the city jail along with Hastings.

The next Monday night Burgess followed a suspected bootlegger into a building in West Oakland and when the police came he was arrested along with the other. He remained in jail for nearly twenty-four hours until he could get in touch with his superior.

British Plan Greeting To Prince of Wales

SAN FRANCISCO, March 24.—The various British organizations of Northern California have been called upon for an opinion on the plan to send a delegation to greet the Prince of Wales when he touches at San Diego the latter part of this month or early in April en route to Australia aboard the British battleship Renowax.

Edward W. P. St. George, chairman of the entertainment committee of the Overseas club, is in charge of the plans. One of the suggestions is to have the delegation greet the prince with a book of California views, or a gold plaque.

TO BEGIN SOVIET TRADE. COPENHAGEN, March 24.—The first cargo of Danish commodities will leave Copenhagen for soviet Russia on March 27.

Lynchburg Woman Says Tanlac Made Life Worth Living

MRS. MARY E. ROACH of Lynchburg, Va.

"Tanalac has been the favorite medicine in my cabinet for three years," said Mrs. M. E. Roach, of 402 Clay street, Lynchburg, Va. "At the time I began taking Tanlac," explained Mrs. Roach, "I had been suffering from indigestion, rheumatism and other troubles for some years and could find nothing to help me. If I ventured to eat anything the least bit heavy I would feel as if I was going to be sick. My heart would palpitate frightfully and when these spells came on I was so dizzy and weak I could hardly stand up. I often had to stop and rest while sitting in my chair. I was badly constipated and hardly ever free of headache. I also suffered with rheumatism in my fingers and especially in my hands, and so severely that I had to wear gloves to help me. My kidneys and liver were out of order and I had the worst kind of pains in my back, legs and shoulders. I had no appetite and what little I did eat seemed to do me more harm than good, as I always suffered afterwards and had become so run-down, weak and miserable that I sometimes felt like life was hardly worth living.

"One day I read a testimonial for Tanlac that seemed so sincere that I decided to see if the medicine would help me. Well, the first bottle did me so much good that I got another, then another and so on until my troubles all disappeared. As I said, that was three years ago. I have been able to keep myself in good health ever since by taking a few doses of Tanlac now and then as I feel the need of it. Tanlac has built me up and given me the strength and energy so that my household is easy for me. It makes life worth living, for it keeps me with a good appetite, helps me to digest my food properly, and by restoring the normal condition of my nervous system, enables me to sleep soundly every night. I shall always praise Tanlac as the best medicine I have ever used. Tanlac is sold in San Francisco and Oakland by the Owl Drug Company stores.—Advertisement.

MOTHERHOOD WOMAN'S RIGHT

How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helps to Make Women Normal.

Washington, Ind.—"I was in such a condition that I never expected to have children and my aunt advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It improved my health and restored a normal condition of my system so that I now have a fine baby. Until she was about a year old I was very nervous, and all the time thinking something terrible was going to happen. If I heard anyone coming, my heart would beat fast and I wanted to run. So I took the Vegetable Compound again and it helped me again. You may publish my letter as the medicine is surely great."

Mrs. IVA BANTA, R. No. 4, Box 24, Washington, Ind.

Among the virtues of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is its ability to correct sterility in many cases. This fact is well established as evidenced by the scores of letters and hundreds of others we have published. In many other homes, once childrenless, there are now children because of the fact that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound makes women normal, healthy and strong.

BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets Are a Harmless Substitute

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel. For 12 years he used these tablets (a vegetable compound) with olive oil in his private practice with great success.

They do all the good that calomel does but have no bad after effects. No pain, no griping, no injury to the gums or danger from acid foods—yet they stimulate the liver and bowels. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "lousy" and "heavy." Note how they clear clouded brain and perk up the spirits. 10c and 25c a box.

Take Cold Easily.

"I take cold easily and during the winter always keep a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in the house. It is the best medicine for colds and coughs I ever used." writes Mrs. S. E. Kline, Newellville, Ohio. When you have a cough or cold give this remedy a trial. You are certain to be pleased with the relief which it affords. For sale by Osgood Bros' Drug Store.—Advertisement.

VIOLATORS OF DRY LAW ASK MERCY

The age, color, density and bouquet of a large amount of wine held as evidence by the government in San Francisco today loomed as a determining factor in the plea of the Montegans, and John Centennial of Elmhurst, for reduction of their sentences of six and three months respectively to a fine for a violation of the national prohibition act.

U. S. District Judge Robert Dean denied application for a writ of habeas corpus, but declared he would entertain a motion for a modification of the judgment after Attorney Transulato had declared he was prepared to submit evidence which would establish definitely that the wine was made prior to the time when its manufacture was illegal. He said this would be proved by the color, density and bouquet of the liquor.

According to the federal authorities the defendants' house in Elmhurst had a well equipped still in the basement. Discovery of the still was brought about by the big increase in Montegans' gas bill.

CHEMIST FREE OF LARCENY CHARGES

Complete vindication was given Frank G. Linstead, 1553 Fifth avenue, a chemist, by Police Judge George Samuels this morning when he dismissed the charge of grand larceny and embezzlement which Linstead had been facing since November 20 of last year.

Linstead was charged with embezzling formulas for the synthetic manufacture of ink from ores after he had worked out the formulas while in the employ of Lewis, Gilman and Moore, a printing concern.

Linstead contended that he had spent many months in evolving the formulas for a new process in the manufacture of ink, and that when he had completed the task he had been discharged by the corporation. The chemist retained copies of the formulas, which he claims will reduce the cost of ink by more than half, and when he refused to give them up to his former employers, he was arrested on a warrant charging him with grand larceny.

Judge Samuels ruled that under the circumstances it would be impossible to have committed the crime of embezzlement or grand larceny.

"There was nothing to embezzle in this case," said the judge. "A man cannot embezzle or steal the knowledge that resides in his own mind, and so far as I can see, this is what the charge against Linstead amounts to. The defendant is dismissed."

Frank G. Linstead and Chief of Police Lynch are today named defendants in a suit filed by Lewis, Gilman and Moore, in which the recovery of the ink formulas or $2000 damages is asked. It is alleged the book is either in the possession of Linstead or the police.

For the Little Ones To Keep Their Digestion Perfect Nothing is So Safe and Pleasant As Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

An experienced observer in charge of a large office said it was a waste of words to tell most people to eat heartily, drink freely, etc. As a rule if the stomach balks at such things, it will be disturbed by cheese, milk, coffee, tea and almost anything that is eaten. Such a condition is not a disease, but a warning that the stomach is not getting its share of food. One or two Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will supply the stomach with an alkaline effect that promotes normal conditions as in health. Men and women are but children of a larger growth when it comes to eating the foods that satisfy the stomach. They are just as susceptible to indigestion or dyspepsia, get just as tired and just as nervous as the children in the United States or Canada. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are just as safe and pleasant for the adult as for the child. They are just as simple a process as the most excellent cook may use garlic flavor of a bay leaf, thyme, garlic, without a protest.—Advertisement.

Soiling Towards a Vision

PIONEER days developed two types of men. The first, the adventurer, his eyes ever on the Earth with its hidden store of wealth. The second, the builder, his eyes lifted to the vision of the great industrial development to come.

The men who builded the H. S. Crocker Company from its humble beginning 64 years ago belonged to this second type. They were not blinded by the promise of sudden wealth but kept ever before them the vision of success founded on service.

Today the H. S. Crocker Company, with five stores located in four California cities—San Francisco, Los Angeles, Oakland & Sacramento—is a monument to that ideal—the Success of Service.

The H. S. Crocker Company today enjoys the reputation of being California's leading Stationer and Printer.

H. S. Crocker Company customers have at their disposal a most complete line of stationery, leather goods and office appliances; one of the largest and best equipped printing, engraving and lithographing plants in the West, and an organization whose motto is "SERVICE."

The Aftermath of Flu

This is No. 1 of a series of advertisements, prepared by a competent physician, explaining how certain diseases which attack the air passages—such as Pneumonia, Influenza, Whooping Cough, Measles or even a long continued Cold—often leave these organs in an inflamed, congested state, thus affording a favorable foothold for invading germs. And how Vick's VapoRub may be of value in this condition.

Your doctor will impress upon you that following recovery from the active stage of influenza, there often remains an inflamed, congested condition of the air passages—throat, larynx, bronchial tubes and lungs.

Frequently the cough hangs on—soreness of the chest persists—yet you take cold easily and there may be obstinate catarrh. This condition is slow to clear up and if neglected may favor the development of pneumonia, or later on, serious disease of the lungs.

Such cases should continue under the care of their physician—should exercise moderately in the open air—eat plenty of wholesome food—avoid overwork and sudden chills.

Nightly applications of Vick's VapoRub may help nature to complete the process of repair. Because Vick's acts locally by stimulation thru the skin to draw out the inflammation, attract the blood away from the congested spots and relieve the cough. In addition, the medicinal ingredients of Vicks are vaporized by the body heat. These vapors are breathed in all night long, thus bringing the medication to bear directly upon the inflamed areas.

Vicks should be rubbed in over the throat and chest until the skin is red—then spread on thickly and covered with hot flannel cloths. Leave the clothing loose around the neck and the bed clothes arranged in the form of a funnel so the vapors arising may be freely inhaled. If the cough is annoying, swallow a small bit of Vicks the size of a pea.

Samples to new users will be sent free on request to the Vick Chemical Company, 231 Broad Street, Greensboro, N. C.

IN A TIGHT PLACE

Ebert, the harnessmaker, is back in Berlin and there are enemies on either side. There is fighting over a large part of Germany and with each day are added more cities to those that are flaunting the red flag. Ebert has rallied his forces and is sending them here and there. There is no one who knows how long they will remain loyal.

Von Kapp, chancellor of a week, belongs to a group that may be expected to take delight in the latest perplexities of the German government. Having failed to establish the old order of things they have stirred a large portion of the populace against the elected rulers. The "royalist revolution" brought the opportunity for the Spartacist-Communist forces and the demonstration of the government's inability incited every radical in the land.

Where the royalists now stand it is not difficult to imagine. If the Communists appear too strong they may loan their show of force to Ebert in time to prevent a soviet Germany. That they will hold back until the last moment with the hope of restoring, with peace, their own influence and institutions is probable. Yet this kaiser-crowd has been known as the poorest guessers in Europe and may be expected to blunder in this attempted coup as it has bungled before.

Ebert, the harnessmaker, must face the crisis in which nothing might happen. He will bear the brunt of the fighting and the responsibility. Then look for the subtle reappearance of the men who brought about Germany's present situation. It is a three-cornered game and the cards are stacked against Ebert.

WHEREIN THE WAR FAILED.

Frequent references have been made to the fact that the war of 1914-18 produced no great poem or song, gave to literature nothing with the promise of long life. As time goes on it becomes more and more evident that this discouraging verdict was not prematurely rendered. Not only have no really great poems been written, but so far no outstanding romance or history has been published concerning the conflict. The histories may come later and it will take some time to form a discriminating judgment upon them. But the best of them will be subject to severe criticism and stubborn contradictions.

Nearly every other international war has given something superbly fine to the literature of poetry and music. American conflicts brought forth "The Star Spangled Banner," "The Battle Hymn of the Republic," "Yankee Doodle," "Marching Through Georgia," etc. Wars have been prolific of the best in song and poetry and romance in other nations.

Next month France will observe the 128th anniversary of the composition of a great song one that has inspired her legions with victory on many a battlefield. On April 24, 1792, the mayor of Strasbourg complained that the volunteers who were about to join Luckner's army had no patriotic song to sing as they marched out. A young captain of engineers heard him and that night wrote a song. The next morning it was printed and copies distributed to the troops who learned it and a few days later marched away to its lively music. When the Marseillais battalion of the army of the first French republic entered Paris on the following July 30th they were singing a martial anthem the like of which Paris had never heard.

And the people of Paris sang it with mad verve as they stormed the Bastille on August 10, 1792. "The Song of the Marseillais" has become immortal and the remains of its author, Rouget de Lisle, have been taken from their original resting place in Choisy and carried, with great ceremony, under the Arc de Triomphe to the Invalides, where they repose by France's greatest citizens.

The circumstances under which the Marseillais was produced were simple. Yet the soul stirring deeds of suffering and courage of the late war produced nothing to equal it. There have been one or two passable poems, such as "In Flanders Field," strikingly appropriate for the day and the needs thereof. But nothing with any prospect of immortality. What is the explanation of this apparent paucity of the war's literary product? Is it because the people knew too much about the war from their own experiences, that each soul was so engaged with its pressing duties as to have no time or ear for anything else?

THE FILM INDUSTRY.

Among California's commodities of domestic and foreign trade place the moving picture film. The value of the annual production is not as high as that of citrus fruits, raisins or prunes, or canned fish, but it is considerable, well worth noting. Recently published statistics give the total films exported during 1919 as measuring more than 50,000 miles, or enough to go twice around the earth at the equator. The value of the films exported was $10,740,000.

There are at present no figures available showing just how much California contributed to this item of export trade, but Los Angeles will probably soon produce a very modest statement on the subject. After she gets over the painful surprise of learning that New York city was first to comment on the moving picture film in trade she will speak right out.

Details are also lacking to show the destination of the American-made films in 1919, but the statistics of 1918, when about half as much film was exported as last year, show that the prepared reels went to no less than fifty-three countries. Thirty-three percent went to Europe, twenty-nine percent to North America, exclusive of the United States, fourteen percent to South America, fourteen percent to Oceania, a little over seven percent to Asia, and three percent to Africa. Of the unexported films of course a very large proportion went to Europe, eighty-five percent, in fact, while the remaining fifteen percent was distributed to the North American countries other than the United States, Asia, Oceania and South America, in the order stated.

The United States is by far the largest manufacturer of films in the world. An estimate based upon the known quantity exported suggests that the total domestic production is not less than two billion feet annually, with a value of about $75,000,000. California produces a large percentage of this output, the given value of which does not include performers' salaries, divorce court cases and breach of promise suits. Neither does it include any part of the hundreds of millions of dollars invested in "movie" theaters and the cost of their operation.

A very large business, or rather several large businesses, have been built up on the moving picture. It has brought new values to the economic and business life, as well as to the machinery of instruction and recreation.

GERMAN TESTIMONY.

Another chapter has been contributed to the history of the war. It is the diary of Captain Lieutenant Schweiger, commander of the German U-boat No. 20, which sank the Lusitania on May 7, 1915, published in yesterday's TRIBUNE. This most fiendish and unjustifiable crime in human history took 1195 lives, among which were many women and children.

The German commander tells of the horror he wrought and witnessed with military precision. He is displayed as the cool, calculating, murderous Hun he was. It is a straightforward tale of diabolical fiendishness. Even the Prussian blonde beast cannot doubt it. It verifies all that has been said concerning the crime and which the German propagandists have vigorously denied.

Those who read the Hun's own testimony must inevitably again ask why did America wait until 1917 to go to war. They must ask again what kind of creatures they were who ordered medals struck to commemorate the wholesale murder as a feat of honorable men, what kind of men and women in Germany who led little children to sing songs in jubilant celebration of the foul deed. They doubtless will hark back again to the words of Theodore Roosevelt when he told what he would have done if he had been President when Bernstorff, the German ambassador at Washington, published the advertisement announcing the danger of sailing on the Lusitania. Roosevelt said he would have immediately ordered Bernstorff to leave the country and seen to it that he took passage on the Lusitania. That would have meant war at once, but how much more admirable it would have been than to permit Bernstorff to remain in this country for two years after the crime.

As the records are checked up it is found that the atrocities charged to the German government and military machine were not manufactured falsehoods. They were committed. Now, strange as it may seem, there are American citizens who plead for leniency for Germany, who try to defeat the treaty of justice which was drafted at Versailles, who try to save Germany the punishment which she so efficiently earned.

As long as it is the gift of the human mind to transmit the recollections of one generation on to another Germany's crimes must be remembered as a reproach to civilization. Politicians may compromise and talk of reservations to justice, but God fearing men cannot forget that evil and righteousness are eternal enemies.

Amerongen reports tell of an increasing nervousness falling upon the kaiser. If one of the trees he is reported to be sawing should fall upon him the world would not become unduly excited. The indications are that Wilhelm has changed his mind about buying a ticket to Berlin.

So far the only distinctive mark about the man's Easter hat is the price mark.

NOTES and COMMENT

The release of "Forty" Smith illustrates the apparent ease with which they get out after the social order has been at such desperate effort and expense to get them in. Smith had thrice been convicted of robbery, had shot at officers, had broken the law in many ways, but a habeas corpus writ, based upon some puny hole in the law, opened the doors of San Quentin and he walked out.

The information is brought by a man just back that the Eskimos are "charmed" with jazz music. Great satisfaction to the rest of the people of North America to have this endorsement of something that they have fallen for so violently.

Uncle Sam has an effective ultimatum at his command to discourage the Ebert government from giving way in any degree to the Reds. He has officially let it be known that no food supplies will be brought to a soviet government. The Reds have to be put down, not compromised with, if the rather pleasant habit of eating there is to be continued with any success.

The latest consideration is that Newberry's seat involves partisan control of the Senate. Maybe it is here that the President and Henry were expecting to laugh.

Supporters of Von Kapp have now opened negotiations for armistice. Always the way. Having failed in an effort that would have taken many lives, they now grovel to save their own.

Just to let us see that they are wise to all the latest kinks, the poultrymen of Saskatchewan have wired down that they are going to candle their eggs. Nothing like keeping up with the procession.

There are 234 defective children in California, which would seem to be too many.

According to a despatch which seems to be important Admiral Sims has testified that Admiral Benson told him "not to let the British pull the wool over his eyes." To all appearances Admiral Sims didn't, but the point seems to have gone before, and to have got a good wave ahead.

"Railroad Extension to Hayward Sought" as we read in a heading sounds as though Hayward is an outlying settlement not yet connected up, which seeming well at once be converted by any citizen of that well-known town.

SPIRIT OF THE STATE PRESS

Interests in Montecito valley are discussing the possibility of organizing with a view to bonding to develop water on a large scale by driving a tunnel through the mountains to the sea.

Well, well! First men were poisoned with cheap whisky, then with wood alcohol, varnish and other pleasing substitutes, and now a Sacramento girl is claiming she was poisoned with "spinach juice." It wasn't even applied inside—Stockton Record.

Haunts are going to 75 cents in San Francisco. We look to see a time when a man will go around from door to door with some kind of a moving machine that will do the work for less money. Already there is talk of a "You-cut-my-hair, Bill, and I'll-cut-yours" club to meet the rising cost of looking neat but not gaudy—Stockton Record.

Now that women are so generally enfranchised there will be a largely increased vote, but as to its being a silent vote, we have to confess we have some doubts—San Jose Mercury Herald.

Attacks on "big business" are not as popular as political propaganda as they were a few years ago. As a matter of fact the people have come to the conclusion that this fighting against vested interests, whether individual or corporate, has been a colossal waste of energy. Capital has become conservative, and extensive enterprise have been curtailed. Even Huram W. Johnson evidently made the mistake of introducing his old-time California methods of campaigning into Minnesota—Calaveras Prospect.

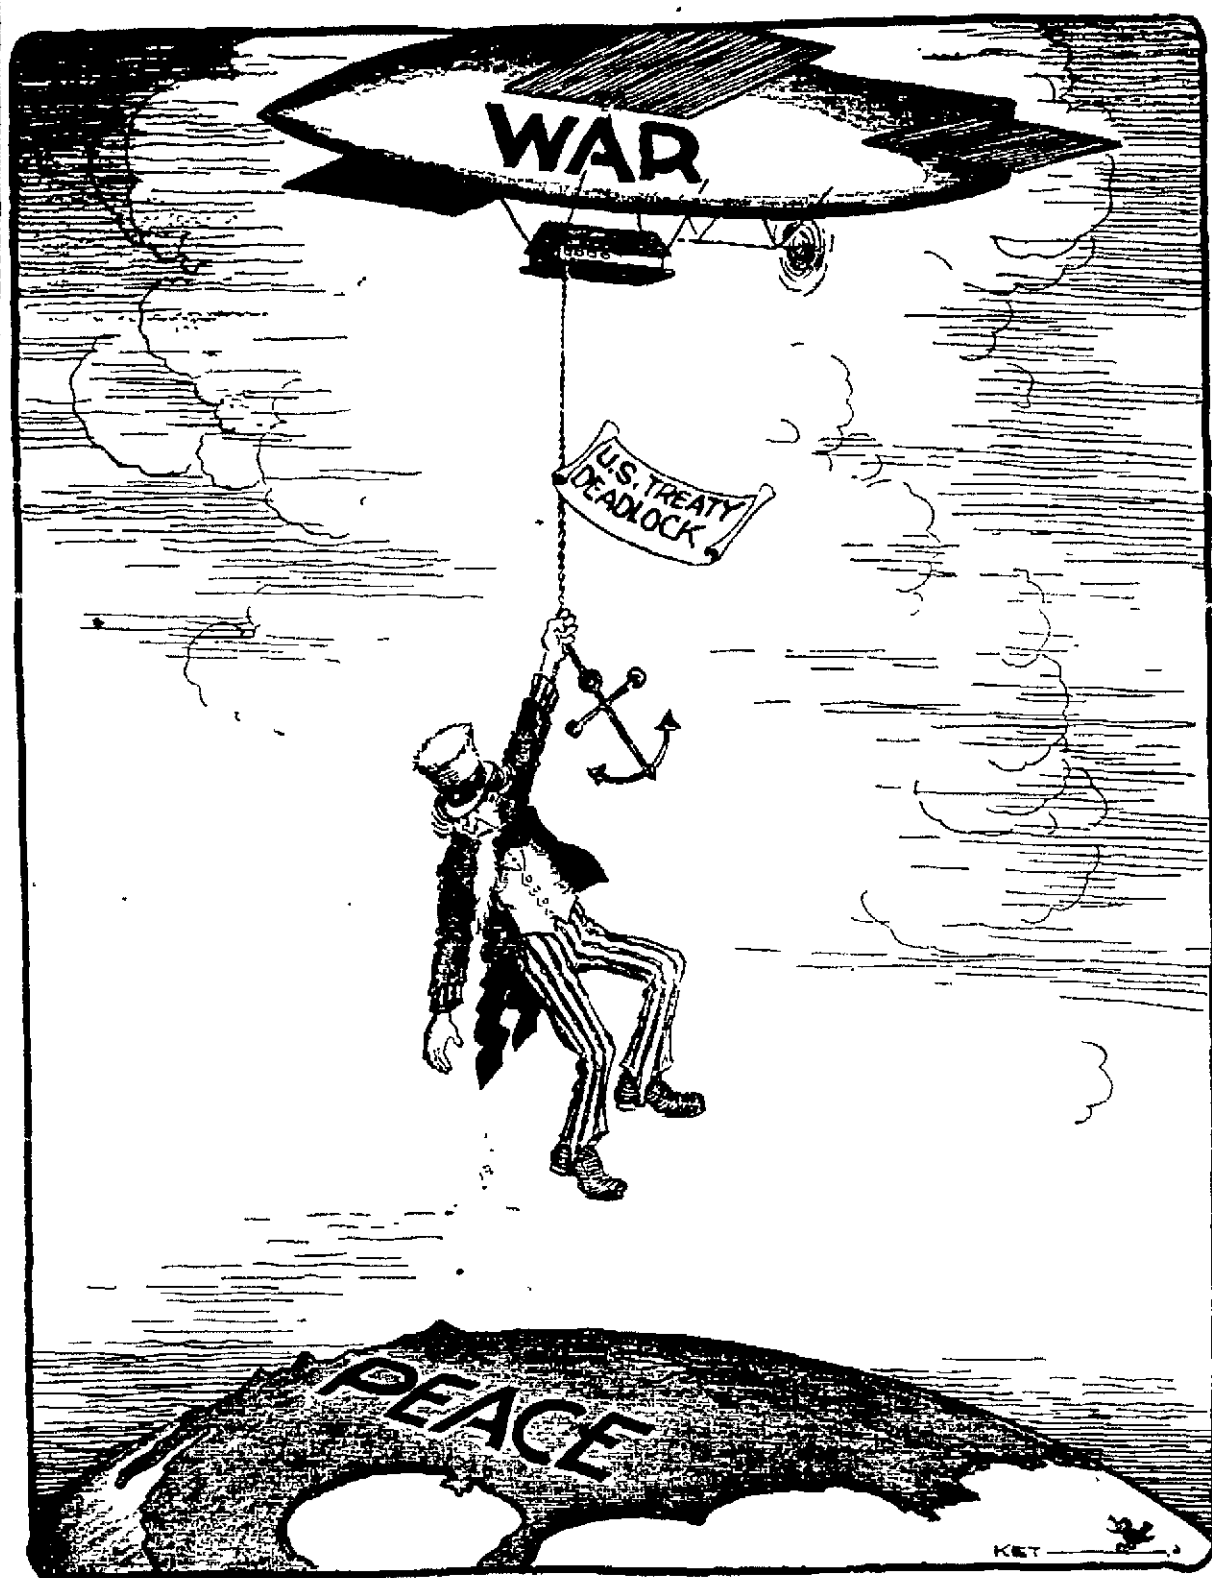

An incalculable amount of injury may be done the State through the sale of lands to newcomers under gross misrepresentation, and every effort should be made to render effective such plans as will place American farmers on their own farms and keep them satisfied to remain there. So declares a writer in the monthly bulletin of the State Department of Agriculture. He adds that the department is constantly in receipt of queries from residents of Eastern States concerning these "wildcat" schemes—San Francisco Journal of Commerce.

The reputation this section of California bore in the early days, that one could pick up gold on the streets may be re-established, in view of a despatch from Brownsville, which says that while passing along the road near that place Byron Stewart, a visiting Oreologist, picked up a valuable gold nugget in a waste crack. The Oreologist had washed it on his bed of clay and rendered it visible—Oroville Register.

This is the year when registering early is important. When the primaries come in August and the election comes in November there is plenty of time. But this year the presidential primaries come May 4. So one can vote at them who has not been registered thirty days prior to that date. That leaves only the first of March and the first day of April. There is no time to lose—Pismo Republican.

Yes, the dead do talk to the living. If you doubt it read the Congressional Record debates on the League of Nations—Richmond News.

AND NOV. 6TH IS EIGHT MONTHS AWAY

HAMPTON ROADS

Hampton Roads, of vital importance in our war operations, but mentioned in that connection because of voluntary press censorship, again is a center of interest because of the burning of the Hotel Chamberlain. A bulletin of the National Geographic Society gives the history of this region as follows: "There is but one entrance by sea into this country, and that is at the mouth of a very goodly bay, Captain John Smith wrote in his 'Map of Virginia, with a Description of the Country,' concerning Chesapeake Bay with its attendant harbor, Hampton Roads, which he describes as 'bounded on the south by Florida, on the north by New France, and whose western limits are unknown.' 'A few bustling ports like New York and Boston might disagree, with the redoubtable captain concerning the facilities their harbors now offer, but certainly no harbor can claim a much more romantic history not only in colonial times, but in the world as well. 'Hampton Roads has been the rendezvous of the American navy ever since there was one. When, during the early part of 1917, newspaper reports were saying that the fleet 'was swallowed up somewhere in the mists of the Atlantic,' it had secretly slid out of the harbor at Hampton Roads and was resting quietly at Yorktown, a few miles up the bay, awaiting orders from Washington. At a moment's notice these huge battleships could here signal to each other with their multicolored flags and steam out to sea. Through the waters of Hampton Roads thousands of men, tons of supplies, and cargoes of horses glided out during the night to play their parts on fields of France. 'The harbor is a splendid sheet of water 500 feet in width with a minimum depth of thirty feet, safe from gales and large enough to float a great navy. It is formed by the James, Nansemond and Libramont rivers as they pass up Chesapeake Bay. The thriving cities of Norfolk, Newport News and Portsmouth give it commercial importance. 'The first land in this vicinity that the sea-weary Captain John Smith and his men caught sight of was the eastern end of a sandy spit of land which they named Cape Henry. Here they opened the sealed orders of the London Company and learned that they were to settle much farther inland. But, for a few days they rested and explored the neighboring waters. They erected a cross on this spot of their first landing, in gratitude for a safe ending of their journey. Later in 1691 a lighthouse was erected on this same spot. It is standing today and bears a tablet commemorating the landing, though a larger and much more pretentious structure has been built for lighting the shipping. Sailing farther inland they touched a point at the entrance to the harbor they called 'Point Comfort' because of the good channel and the safe anchorage it afforded. When later similar places were found, the one first touched was dubbed 'Old' and this name has clung to it ever since. It was here that Jefferson Davis was confined for a time at the close of the Civil war. 'Newport News, settled in 1811 by Master Gookin out of Ireland, was named by him in honor of his friend, Sir William Nease. A quaint old chronicler tells us that at Newport News the cotton trees in a year grow so thick as one's arm and so high as a man, here anything that is planted doth prosper so well as in no place better.' Today this town contains one of the largest dry docks in the world and thus much of the grandeur that once grew so abundant ly on the trees that the chronicler mentions. 'Norfolk, the largest city on Hampton Roads, has a history that dates back farther even than that of Jamestown. The first white men who visited the site constituted a small exploring party from Sir Walter Raleigh's colony at Roanoke Island about 1585. Almost a century later Portsmouth was settled. Since its infancy it has been famous for its navy yard, the first one having been built by the English. Seven miles east of Newport News lies the ancient borough and village of Hampton. When Smith and the colonists landed at Newport News looking for a town site, five Indians met them and invited them to their village, 'Kocoughtan,' where Hampton now stands.

How to Care for a Burned Child Under Doctor's Orders

By DR. LEONARD K. HINSBERG
A. M. A. M. D.
(Johns Hopkins University)

A burned child dreads fire. Those who enthusiastically espoused some fad or treatment a few years ago are the very ones enthusiastic about some other fad today. The survival of just fads in treatments are the present methods of many households. At one time burns were treated by means of butter and soda or insect oil and salt. This was found to be useless, if not hurtful, and better remedies were sought and discovered.

The tetanus or lockjaw germ can infect a burned area, so such a surface must be carefully protected. The burned parts should be covered with soft paraffin wax, vaseline or a 10 per cent solution of boric acid in water. Place a layer of cotton over the gauze and keep the dressing in place with a suitable bandage. The dressing should be changed once a day and the burned surface irrigated with a tepid solution of boric acid made by adding a heaping tablespoonful of the boric acid to a pint of hot water. Salt solution in the proportion of a heaping spoonful of salt to a quart of boiled water may be also used.

After the surface has been thoroughly irrigated apply a fresh dressing as before. Great care should be exercised in handling such cases, and the dressing removed with great gentleness, for the pain and shock caused by this procedure, if rough, may seriously affect the patient's chances for recovery.

Submergence of the part in a warm solution composed of one teaspoonful of salt to a quart of water will give good results. The burns are very extensive it is sometimes practicable to place the victim in a bathtub partially filled with the above solution, supporting the patient in rubber air pillows and covering him with blankets.

All damaged parts may be kept completely submerged in this fashion, except the head, for several days, hence the continuous attendance of a nurse, both day and night, is required to see that the bath is kept at the proper temperature, and that the victim does not drown. In burns of the fingers and toes, it is necessary to keep dressing between the burnt members during the healing process or otherwise the fingers or toes may grow together.

After all, extensive burns tough scars will form, which gradually contract and extensive permanent deformities may result.

A person who has been extensively burned should receive a light but nutritious diet, preferably of soup, milk and eggs. The bowels and bladder should be kept open.

Mixtures of paraffin with other oils and substances have been recently much advocated for the treatment of burns. This is melted and sprayed on the burned surface with an atomizer. It may be applied with a soft brush. Then a layer of cotton batting is applied to the burn and more of the warm paraffin mixture sprayed over it. The protective dressing should be changed once a day, and the surface irrigated with some weak antiseptic solution, dried with compresses of gauze and another application put on. A preliminary coat of vasoline or petroleum jelly is the main of spraying the hot solution on the injured surface.

COL. PARKER OF HAWAIIAN FAME, DEAD

SAN FRANCISCO, March 24.—News of the death in Honolulu of Colonel Samuel Parker, one of the best-known Hawaiians and former prime minister of Queen Liliuokalani, was received by cable here today by Robert W. Shingle, territorial representative of Hawaii.

Colonel Parker was widely known throughout the United States. His influence in Hawaiian affairs continued after the close of the monarchy, and he became a staunch supporter of the American government.

Colonel Parker was 65 years of age.

The principal heir of the Parker estate is Richard Smart, a six-year-old grandchild, now being educated in San Francisco, for whom the $800,000 famous Parker ranch of the Hawaiian Islands is being held in trust.

The residue of the estate, valued at millions, will go to five children of Parker now living in Honolulu.

The Smart boy is residing with his grandmother here, Mrs. Elizabeth J. Knight, both his parents having died.

COUNCIL NAMES NEW CITY HELP

Changes that will go into effect as a result of the switching of Commissioner W. J. Bacous and Commissioner W. H. Edwards last week, were provided for by action of the City Council today, affecting the department of streets and the department of revenue and finance.

An ordinance was passed creating the additional position of senior clerk and stenographer in the department of streets, which is to be filled by Miss Anna May as the result of her transfer from the City Clerk's office. She is to succeed Miss Blanche Steele, senior clerk under Commissioner Bacous during his regime in the department.

A resolution was laid before the Council by Commissioner Edwards, new head of the street department, and adopted, calling for an exchange of automobiles between the two departments.

Wharfinger Reports $11,557.40 Revenues

Masterson for the month of February, filed today with the city council, shows $11,557.40 in revenues accruing to the city from wharfing activities and dockage and toll charges. Dockage for the month amounted to $5298.41, while the tolls brought to the city $1575.58. Popular Oakland Society Girl Will Work in Films

MISS HELEN MEHRMANN, local belle, who has deserted society for the movies. Miss Mehrmann left last night for the south to begin a series of engagements with Los Angeles companies.

Miss Helen Mehrman Answers Call From South to Appear on Silver Screen

One more society belle has deserted the ranks of the silver screen at the call of the silver screen to make fame and fortune in the Southland. Miss Helen Mehrmann, daughter of Dr. H. E. Mehrmann and Mrs. Mehrmann, has been "trying out" in small parts among the "movie" companies near Los Angeles since the new year. Miss Mehrmann returned to the South last night after a visit of a week with her parents. She will enter the "movies" permanently.

Although her parts have been inconspicuous, her talent has been recognized. The popular young Oakland woman is hopeful not only of becoming a film actress, but has ambitions to take up scenario writing. Her engagements will open before April 1. Mrs. J. P. Boas is chaperoning her niece, the two women having leased apartments for the spring.

Miss Mehrmann is a social favorite who has entertained lavishly at the Mehrmann home in Grove street and at the country place near Pleasanton. She is a niece of Mrs. A. P. Leach, wife of the district attorney. Her father has been active in political circles. Mrs. Mehrmann and her daughter have been prominently identified with local philanthropies.

Dr. and Mrs. Mehrmann are anticipating a visit with their daughter next month.

A new building, dedicated to the exclusive use of the Knights of Columbus night school at St. Mary's college is completed. It was announced today by Brother Leo, president of the college. Classes will be installed this week.

Ed Maher, one of the war heroes of the college, has been placed in charge of the radio classes. He is the son of Dr. J. Maher, the St. Mary's college physician. C. E. Rust will be in charge of the classes in drafting.

HOLIDAY URGED FOR NAVY MEN

Requests to business men to allow naval reservists to have a holiday next Saturday were made today by the Oakland Chamber of Commerce, by order of the board of directors.

The request was made in view of the fact that the navy reservists are to have the day off from 10 o'clock in the morning so that they can take part in naval reserve day.

The directors also voted to support Mayor Davis's movement to obtain an appropriation from the next legislature for a state building in Oakland. The mayor is conducting a campaign to secure the backing of all the boards of county supervisors and civic and commercial organizations throughout California.

At the request of the Oakland fire department, support was promised for "safety weeks" from April 1 to 15. The publicity bureau already has arranged to have motion pictures taken of the various units.

Frederick Faulkner was authorized to represent the Chamber of Commerce on the advisory conference of Americanization agencies. The following committee appointments of President Walter D. Cole were confirmed:

John B. Matthews and John McEvoy to the harbor development committee; Byron Maury to the public entertainment committee; Harold Katschinski to the military affairs committee.

BRAND NEW CITY JOB TO BE CREATED

Echoes of the recent investigation of conditions in the handling of the Municipal Auditorium that resulted in Manager George E. Keefe being discharged by Commissioner of Public Works Frederick Soderberg, were heard in the council chambers this morning when an ordinance was passed completely changing the system of management of the institution.

The ordinance, introduced by Commissioner Soderberg and passed to print to become effective in eight days, provides for the creation of the new position of supervising engineer of the building. The position is to be filled, according to Soderberg's announcement, by the appointment of N. Clark, now engineer of the building.

The positions of manager of the building and of stenographer will be abandoned. The detail office work will be done in the department of public works, while the supervising janitor will have charge of the operation and maintenance of the auditorium and the janitor service and will be complete charge of the building and equipment. The position will carry with it a salary of $2700 a year.

LINE OF POWER FROM OREGON TO MEXICO PLANNED

SAN FRANCISCO, March 24.—Formation of a power pool under the direction of the state railroad commission to send electric energy from Southern Oregon to San Diego, is to be effected this summer in order to offset the water shortage in this state, following the submission of reports from ninety power concerns on proposed methods for overcoming the shortage.

The arrangement virtually is completed, the only remaining task being the spanning of a gap of 13 miles between the Pacific Gas and Electric company at Newburg and the San Joaquin Light and Power company at Merced. This span will be completed in May. It was announced, making possible the sending of large electric energy from one end of the state to the other.

Financial arrangements call for the purchase of from 25,000,000 to 30,000,000 kilowatt hours from the Southern California power companies by the San Joaquin Light and Power company to overcome an acute shortage in the San Joaquin valley.

Mrs. Belle-Oudry Is Granted a Divorce

A settlement of property and custody of the children out of court today resulted in Mrs. Gertrude Belle-Oudry, wife of Edward H. Belle-Oudry, photographer, being granted a divorce by default.

Mrs. Belle-Oudry charged cruelty. By the decree Belle-Oudry gets the custody of the youngest son, while the wife has custody of the other three children with $15 a month alimony.

Grocer Acquitted of Charge of Battery

Walter Wollison, proprietor of a grocery store at Twelfth and Campbell, who has been facing a charge of battery against an eight-year-old child since November 12 of last year, was found not guilty this morning by a jury in the police court of Judge Samuels.

Judge Samuels ordered bench warrants issued for two jurors, H. E. Breckenburg and J. Heaney, who failed to answer.

"Love Me Lots" Letter Is Divorce Suit Evidence

When Mrs. Ida May Nichols, wife of William B. Nichols, manager of the service department of a local automobile company, introduced in evidence in the trial of her divorce suit a photograph of her husband's alleged infidelity, Judge W. M. Conley looked searchingly at the picture a moment and then said to Mrs. Nichols:

"Madame, do you think your husband is afflicted with insanity?"

"Sometimes," replied Mrs. Nichols. "Love letters from a woman in El Paso who signed herself 'Mrs. Margaret Kirkey,' and whom Nichols is charged with having associated with while he was a lieutenant in army service there, were made the basis of part of the wife's complaint. She declared the woman had purchased an expensive automobile for him, while he was there and that he had admitted he loved her and hoped to marry her if he ever 'got rid of his wife.' He is also said to have told his wife last January that he was 'keeping company' with an Alameda woman who was 'a peach of a good looker.'"

Excerpts from the El Paso woman's letters, in which she called him "Norton Nicholson," follow:

"Who do you love? I love Norton. I can't stand to be away from you very long, from some cause. The happiest hours of my whole life were spent with you—just you. I am thinking about you, dear, night and day, and longing for you all the time. I would give one-half of my life right now if I could only be with you this very minute. I have a feeling I will see you again soon and then we can enjoy ourselves forever. We surely are far away from each other now, aren't we, sweetheart, but oh that day we do meet we surely will make up for lost time, won't we Norton? Love me lots! With all my love, yours forever, Margaret."

A portion of a letter without signature says: "The God of all deities shall guide us and we shall always be to each other as in the few short months of our happiness."

MRS. DEAN FACES WOMAN ACCUSER

SAN LUIS OBISPO, March 24.—In a sensational statement from the witness stand today, Mrs. Edith Singer, wife of a Baptist minister of Paso Robles, testifying in the case of the murder of Fred A. Dean, declared Mrs. Myrtle Dean tried to fix the crime on George F. Mallett.

Mrs. Dean is on trial for the murder of her husband, Mallett, was associated with Dean in farming. Mrs. Singer said the defendant tried to get her to say that she believed Mallett killed Dean.

"I refused to say this," she said, "and Mrs. Dean became exasperated."

H. V. Davis, supreme secretary of the Fraternal Brotherhood, in which Dean carried life insurance of $3000, testified that Mrs. Dean sought twenty-two days after the murder to collect the insurance. She made an attempt, she said, that there was no insanity in the Dean household.

Mrs. Singer also testified that Mrs. Dean's mind appeared to work unusually fast the morning of the crime.

"Mrs. Dean said to me, 'Isn't it queer so many murders are committed about 5 o'clock in the morning?'" said Mrs. Singer.

SOVIET SET UP BY STUDENTS IN KANSAS SCHOOL

TOPEKA, Kan., March 24.—A "soviet" has been set up in the state normal school at Hays for two days, according to a telegram received in this city from P. Casper Harvey, an instructor.

BATTLE OF PATROLMEN IS CHARGED

Investigation of a charge that Thomas O'Neill and James Garvin, patrolmen of the Oakland department, engaged in a street battle early this morning has been ordered by Sergeant J. J. Sherry reported that Garvin was treated at the Emergency hospital. The fight took place at Eighth and Broadway at 4 o'clock. Both patrolmen were taken to the City Hall by Sergeant Sherry.

Berkley went to San Jose in an automobile caravan this morning to attend the ceremony of opening a new lodge in the Santa Clara county seat. The automobile party started an hour earlier than Robinson who over took it on the way.

Superior Judge J. L. Brown, president of the San Jose Den of Lions which received its charter today, headed the reception committee that met Robinson, escorting him to downtown headquarters of the club where he sat as guest of honor in the club's first luncheon since its official affiliation with the international Lions Clubs.

Ben F. Shapiro, district governor for California, LeRoy Goodrich, president of Oakland Den and Judge Frank A. Britton, president of the San Francisco Den or Lions, were speakers at the luncheon. Musical numbers were furnished by rival quartets from the Oakland and Berkeley lodges.

BURGLAR IS BATTLED BY
LONE WOMAN

Struggling in the dark with an early morning marauder, Mrs. Catherine Connolly, 804 Filbert street, endeavored to hold the burglar until help came. She was alone when she responded to her screams for help, but the man tore himself loose from the grasp of the determined woman and escaped.

Mrs. Connolly heard the prowler pass the door of her room and steal down the hallway. She quickly arose and wrapping herself in a dressing gown, followed the intruder down the hall.

Encountering the man at the door of another room while he was fumbling at the lock, Mrs. Connolly seized him by the collar and attempted to hold him. She stated to the police this morning that there were no lights in the hall, and that she was unable to give any description of the man.

A short struggle ensued before Mrs. Connolly was forced to relinquish her hold on the burglar, who dashed down the stairs and escaped.

CONSTRUCTOR IS DISCOVERED IN
BANANA BUNCH

The Oakland museum is today the richer by a half-grown banana constructor four feet long as a result of the snake's unexpected appearance in a local fruit market, which resulted in a near-panic among customers.

The snake came here from South America, concealed in a 50-pound bunch of bananas and his presence did not become known until late yesterday when it stuck its head from the bunch while Harold Sanford, fruit dealer, was cutting fruit for a customer.

Added by Robert Long, the banana bunch was carried to the street, where the reptile was taken away by Fred V. Shaw, snake expert at the Oakland museum. "There goes the profit on this bunch," declared Sanford as he watched Shaw taking away ten pounds of unsalable constructor which had been weighed in as bananas when he purchased the bunch.

The early Greeks and Romans used saffron as a perfume.

Bryn Mawr Alumnae Prepare
For Visit of Miss Helen Taft

Former President's Daughter
Will Get Warm Greeting
in Bay Cities.

When Miss Helen Taft, daughter of former President William H. Taft, and acting president of Bryn Mawr College, arrives in the bay cities on Monday, April 5, she will receive a cordial welcome from the alumnae and former students of the institution of learning. Bryn Mawr is endeavoring to raise an endowment fund of $2,000,000 which will be devoted exclusively to increasing salaries of the faculty. Miss Taft, who is the youngest college executive in the United States, is touring the nation on behalf of the campaign. To Northern California has been allotted $25,000 of the total amount. An endowment campaign committee has been organized in the bay cities with Miss Frank Duck Jr., of Berkeley, the chairman. The committee is arranging Miss Taft's program while she is here. Miss Taft will be the guest of Dr. Aurelia Henry Reinhardt at Mills College while she is in Oakland. A special meeting of the California Branch Association of Collegiate Alumnae will be called during her official visit. Tuesday, April 6, Miss Taft will address San Francisco California Civic League. Mrs. Jesse H. Steinhart will be the brilliant young woman's hostess in San Francisco.

Two Attempts to End
Life Are Frustrated

Two attempts to commit suicide were frustrated by friends of Miss Helen Taft this morning. Awakened by the fumes of gas, occupants of the house quickly searched the house and found the woman holding her head over an open but unlighted gas burner in the kitchen. She was revived and told to go outside to bed. At 2:30 o'clock this morning she was found outside the house. She told her friends that she had swallowed poison. The police ambulance was called and she was taken to the Emergency hospital. She will recover. No motive for the two attempts were given by Miss Perry.

BOND ISSUE IS URGED BY COMMITTEE

Construction of a memorial building and museum, of library extensions and auditorium, the dredging of Lake Merritt and filling in of fifty-five acres for an airfield and athletic field south of the radio tower, latest items of a high-pressure pipe line carrying clean salt water to Lake Merritt and the purchase of additional parks for the city of Oakland will require a bond issue of $3,000,000, according to an estimate made today by Mayor John L. Dineen's committee.

The special bond issue committee, appointed by Mayor Dineen, and headed by Jesse Robinson, has announced this as the exact amount to be placed before the public. Chairman Robinson stated that the amount included every detailed item and that the figures were the result of much investigation on the part of the committee.

The detailed amounts, as announced by the committee, are: For the Adams Point athletic field, including a natural history museum and African mammal hall, a memorial hall and an art building, $1,000,000; for library extensions and improvements and the extension of the regional neighborhood parks, $300,000; for the dredging of Lake Merritt and the filling in of the land south of the auditorium, $150,000; for a high pressure salt water system from the bay front pier, to be used for filling Lake Merritt and for an emergency fire main, $450,000; for a recreation center, including a natorium, a school gymnasium, field and a stadium, $175,000; for improvements to the present city park system, $385,000.

As stated by the committee yesterday, the various propositions will be put on the ballot as a single issue providing the procedure is legal. There has, however, arisen considerable opposition in some quarters "blanketing" the propositions in one issue, and this opposition, it is expected, may have some weight in the final decision. It is argued that a separation of the items will permit at least a portion of them a better chance for success at the polls than if the issue were made all-inclusive.

BUSINESS NIL, MAN SUES FOR HIS COIN BACK

William O. Martin answered an advertisement of an auto repair shop at 1952 Telegraph avenue that was for sale. Upon arriving there he found G. P. Smith in charge, who showed him a quantity of tools and equipment. Martin purchased the shop for $350, whereupon Smith took away the two automobiles, and the tools, explaining they were not included in the sale. As a result Martin had nothing left but a practically empty shop in which he had only $1.50 worth of business in two weeks.

This is the tale told by Martin to Judge Joseph Koford in his suit for recovery of the money. Judge Koford has been convinced of the truth in the charges and gave Martin judgment for the price paid for the "business."

CAFES, CAR ROBBED BY AUTO THUGS

SAN FRANCISCO, March 24.—Three robberies were committed within two hours early today when three automobile bandits armed with automatic pistols invaded the south of Market street district.

At midnight the bandits entered the restaurant of Harry Gussis, 501 Howard street, and ordered coffee and cake. While eating, one of the men left and when Gussis went to their booth with the order the other two men held him up. They locked him in the booth and looted the cash register of $6.

A similar robbery was committed at the restaurant of Mitchell and Bruno, 496 Third street. They took $17 from Mitchell but did not search Bruno. They secured $15 from the cash register. At 1:35, two of the men boarded a street car at Oak and Larkin streets and took $25 from the conductor, J. H. Backhop. The men then got off, joined their companion who waited in their automobile and escaped.

Although snails have lungs they are able to live for an indefinite period without air.

Grand Jury Fails to Take Action in Baccus Charges

After devoting the entire day yesterday to an exhaustive probe of charges of alleged "graft" in the misappropriation of city property made against Commissioner William J. Baccus by Commissioner Frederick Soderberg, the Alameda county grand jury adjourned at 5:30 last night without taking any action.

The pipe, which was said to be city property and which the grand jury viewed yesterday, and which was alleged to have been misappropriated by Baccus for his own use at the Alviso Gun Club, was said to be the deciding factor in bringing about an adjournment, following the hearing of testimony from seventeen witnesses.

EVIDENCE INSUFFICIENT.

Although no official statement was issued by the inquisitorial body, following the adjournment last night it was stated on good authority that the grand jury did not deem, in its own opinion, the evidence furnished as sufficient to go further into the case.

It is understood that a meeting of the grand jury in the near future is not contemplated, although it is said on good authority that several subpoenas have been issued on race-track men. It is said, however, that when a sufficient amount of evidence is gathered on the race-track, gambling evil the grand jury will again be called to meet in special session.

BACCUS IS WITNESS.

Four city officials testified at the hearing yesterday. Commissioner Frederick Soderberg, who initiated

PIEDMONT VOTES
ON HIGH SCHOOL

PIEDMONT, March 24.—Piedmont will decide tomorrow whether or not it will issue $250,000 in bonds for the construction of a Piedmont high school or assume a tax of .35% on the hundred to pay to the Oakland Board of Education for the use of Oakland high schools.

The city of Piedmont was organized as a high school district two months ago and shortly after the bond issue project was launched. By resolution, the town trustees directed City Clerk Wear C. Little to prepare a report concerning the high school situation in the city which has become the basis of arguments of councilmen and others of the opposition faction against the bond issue.

There are 200 high school students in Piedmont now attending Oakland high schools. The school board plans to construct a school which would be large enough to educate the 200 high school students and relieve crowded conditions in the two elementary schools of the city by including the seventh and eighth grades.

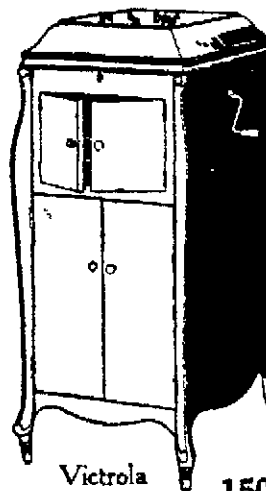

By resolution, the City Council has opposed the bond issue because no definite plans for the expenditure of the money raised have been formulated by the school board.

VISION OF TRIP TO EUROPE AND SAVINGS VANISH

Long cherished dreams of a return to sunny Italy with the sum it had taken him five years to save were shattered last night when John Cicchese newly arrived from Los Angeles, boarded a Sixteenth street car and had his pocket picked. He lost a wallet containing a draft for $533 and $245 in currency.

He reported to the police this morning that the car was crowded and that two men had jostled against him. Steps were taken by the police to round up pickpocket suspects.
